

YEAR OUT

DEAR CHURCH LEADER,

Do you know a young person who may benefit from a Christian gap year whilst still serving in your local church?

If you've been connected with Love Black Country (or Love Dudley) over recent years you will be aware that the church across the region have been trying to respond to God's call to "throw your arms around the next generation." One way in which we've been led to respond is to provide a year out program based in Dudley which will grow leaders from, and for, the next generation.

Although this year out program has been largely developed and funded by ACC and Chawn Hill so far, our hope is that it will serve the region. For that reason, we've designed it to allow those who take part to stay within and serving the local church they come from and have built in a lot of flexibility to the year out so that it can correlate well with those in different circumstances.

The level of partnership between us is fairly flexible – the information should give you some idea of this but do talk to us if you'd like to explore all the options.

The application process is more of a joint discernment – for those who may be interested, they don't have to be 100% sure before getting in touch. Similarly, if they are interested but not sure how it would work for them practically or financially, please encourage them to talk to us.

We believe that a Christian gap year can be transformative time for young adults, where they can discover more of their gifting and calling. We long to see leaders raised up from and for the next generation and trust you will join us in this.
